This document describes the Company's approach to corporate governance.

I. Basic approach to corporate governance, capital structure, corporate attributes, and other general information

1. Basic Approach

Taking into consideration the provisions and spirit of the Corporate Governance Code issued by the Tokyo Stock Exchange, we have formulated a Basic Approach to Corporate Governance that our basic approach and policies in the area of corporate governance in order to facilitate sustained growth and improve our corporate value over the medium and long term.

[Basic Policy]

1. Basic Approach to Corporate Governance

“Creating happiness and prosperity, together with people and with society. To achieve this goal, the DyDo Group will continue to embrace new challenges in a dynamic way.”

Our corporate philosophy inspires us in our ongoing quest to ensure proper, upstanding business practices and rigid compliance with relevant laws and regulations. It motivates us to constantly improve management efficiency and transparency, and to promote the group's mutual benefits with all of our stakeholders, including our customers, our employees, our business partners, our communities, and our shareholders. It is the very cornerstone of our corporate governance, which is geared toward generating sustainable growth and improving corporate value over the medium- to long-term.

[DyDo Group Philosophy]

Creating happiness and prosperity, together with people and with society. To achieve this goal, the DyDo Group will continue to embrace new challenges in a dynamic way.

[DyDo Group Vision]

Together with our customers.

With our high-quality products, we will offer our customers excitement and enhanced wellness, with distinctive delicious flavors that only DyDo can.

Together with society.

Bringing together all DyDo's resources in the entire Group's product development and corporate activities, we will help build a rich and vibrant society.

Together with the next generation.

We will create a “DyDo Standard” for the next generation that transcends national borders and conventional frameworks.

Together with our people.

We will tirelessly embrace the “DyDo Challenge” of bringing happiness to all whose lives are touched by the DyDo Group.

The core business of the DyDo Group is Domestic Beverage Business, and considering the fact that approximately 90% of our sales for this segment come from vending machines in the local community, it is fair to say that our soft drink products are a familiar part of consumers' everyday lives. Moreover, our operations are conducted under a "fabless management" system, which means we have no plants of our own and instead work in close cooperation with producers and distributors nationwide, to whom we outsource the manufacture and delivery of our products. We concentrate our resources on more specific roles, such as product planning and development, and vending machine operations. We have one of the industry's most extensive networks of vending machines, which are maintained by DyDo Group employees and the "Kyoeikai" (special vending machine operators that handle DyDo products).

It is a rather unique model that depends on the trust of our stakeholders. As such, we believe "happiness and prosperity together with people and society as a whole" is more than just a nice phrase for a corporate philosophy—it is our duty, and the overriding objective of our business activities. To that end, our "dynamic efforts" are founded on bedrock of corporate governance, a steadfast platform of transparent, fair, swift, and bold decision-making. Moreover, we continually work to improve that foundation in order to contribute to the benefit of our shareholders.

2. How We Put the Japan's Corporate Governance Code

(1) Securing the rights and Equal Treatment of Shareholders

At the DyDo Group, our corporate philosophy guides us to work in close partnership with a broad range of stakeholders. For instance, we endeavor to effectively secure the rights of our shareholders, and to prepare an environment in which they can exercise those rights appropriately.

(2) Appropriate Cooperation with Stakeholders Other Than Shareholders

We are keenly aware that our efforts to generate sustainable growth and improve corporate value over the medium- to long-term (as enshrined in our corporate philosophy) are reliant on the valuable resources and contributions of a broad spectrum of stakeholders, including our customers, our employees, our business partners, and our communities. Moreover, we are proud to work in close partnership with our stakeholders, and we proactively incorporate their feedback into the running of the DyDo Group. The executives and board of directors are charged with leading the creation and maintenance of a corporate culture that demands respect for the rights and positions of stakeholders and firm adherence to corporate ethics.

(3) Ensuring Appropriate Information Disclosure and Transparency

In line with our policy of transparency, fairness, and long-term focus, we provide shareholders, investors, and all other stakeholders the information they need to make informed decisions. This includes information on our companies' finances, business performance, management strategies and issues, risks, and other matters relating to governance. Indeed, we consider our legal obligation to disclose pertinent information promptly and appropriately to be a serious matter. In addition, however, we are also eager to publish information that encourages correct understanding of the DyDo Group to the furthest possible extent.

(4) Responsibilities of the Board

The board of directors seeks to discharge its responsibility and accountability to shareholders by pursuing a three-pronged strategy for consistent improvement of the group's earning power and capital efficiency so as to achieve sustainable growth and improve corporate value over the medium- to long-term. Those three facets are: 1) set the direction for implementation of the group's corporate strategy; 2) establish a platform for executives to take calculated risks; and 3) institute effective, independent, and objective oversight of executives and directors.

(5) Dialogue with Shareholders

Constructive dialogue with shareholders is an integral part of our IR strategy, which is geared toward our goal of sustainable growth and improved corporate value over the medium- to long-term. Such communication not only fosters correct understanding of the DyDo Group, but it also generates valuable feedback that serves as a frank appraisal of our true trustworthiness and corporate value.

Prepared in accordance with the Corporate Governance Code (Revised June 2021)

Supplementary Principle 1.2.5

Treatment of institutional investors who own shares in the name of a trust bank (shintaku ginko) and/or custodial institutions and express a wish in advance to exercise their voting rights at the General Meeting of Shareholders

Because voting rights at the General Meeting of Shareholders are held by entities that are included in or registered on the list of shareholders as of the date of record, we do not allow institutional investors who own shares in the name of a trust bank or other institution to attend, exercise their voting rights at, or pose questions at the General Meeting of Shareholders.

Due to the large number of administrative issues associated with implementation of this principle, we have decided to study it in the future after clarifying future trends.

Principle 1.4

Cross-Shareholdings

We annually assess whether or not to hold each individual cross-shareholding.

Please see the latest verification results in “Disclosures in accordance with the principles of Japan's Corporate Governance Code: Content of assessment of whether or not to hold each individual cross-shareholding.”

With regard to “methods for specifically assessing whether or not the purpose of, and the benefits and risks from, holding each individual cross-shareholding is appropriate and covers the Company's cost of capital,” as required by this principle, the Board of Directors recognizes this as an issue requiring further discussion.

Principle 1.4.1

Response to Cross-Shareholder Indication of Intent to Sell

When cross-shareholders indicate their intention to sell their shares, we do not hinder the sale of the cross-held shares by, for instance, implying a possible reduction of business transactions.

However, in cases where parties which are cross-shareholders for the purpose of business cooperation indicate their intention to sell their shares, we recognize the need to consider revising cooperative relations based on economic rationality.

Principle 2.6

Roles of Corporate Pension Funds as Asset Owners

Because the management of corporate pension funds impacts stable asset formation for employees and our own financial standing, we ensure that potential conflicts of interest between pension fund beneficiaries and our company are appropriately managed by entrusting fund operation to a management institution and by receiving regular reports on the status of fund management and stewardship activities.

However, with regard to the involvement of human resources and operational practices, as required by this principle and including recruiting or assigning outside qualified persons, discussion of this issue will be revisited in the future as warranted based on careful monitoring of developments.

Supplementary Principle 4.1.3

Proactive engagement in the establishment and implementation of a succession plan for the CEO and other top executives, and appropriate oversight of the systematic development of succession candidates

Since assuming the position in April 2014, Tomiya Takamatsu, the Company's president, has demonstrated strong leadership by managing the Company with rapid, decisive decision-making in line with its medium- and long-term management posture based on the perspective of all stakeholders and in keeping with the newly formulated Group Philosophy and Group Vision.

Although we do not currently have a specific succession plan for positions such as president, we recognize that the cultivation of corporate officers and management positions that support the Company's executive team is an important priority, and we launched DyDo Innovation Academy, a long-term training program for mid-level employees, in order to cultivate and identify the next generation of leaders who will be responsible for driving the organization's sustained growth going forward. We are working to foster problem-solving skills, strengthen leadership, and facilitate management literacy through a combination of off- and on-the-job training.

For the future, the Board of Directors will appropriately supervise the implementation of initiatives aimed at medium and long term improvement in corporate value, including a strategic development plan for the next generation of corporate officers and managers.

Supplementary Principle 4.8.2

Election of a head independent outside director

Four of the seven positions on our Board of Directors are occupied by independent outside directors, but we do not elect a head independent outside director.

In addition to the support offered to outside directors by the Board of Directors Secretariat to facilitate clear communication and coordination with the rest of the Company's executive team, we foster collaboration with auditors and the Kansayaku Board by means of such measures as regular meetings that are attended exclusively by independent external officers.

[Disclosures in accordance with the principles of Japan's Corporate Governance Code]

Principle 1.3

Basic Strategy for Capital Policy

The Group's basic policy is to pursue stable and robust financial management in order to secure stable profits and improve its corporate value so that it can realize sustained growth over the medium and long term. The Group's funds are concentrated in its holding company, and it strives to maintain financial soundness and to practice stable management by allocating those funds in an appropriate manner. In addition to carrying out strategic business investments geared to drive future growth, we will work going forwards to maintain and build a sound, balanced financial base for the Group's operations, including by returning profits to shareholders in an appropriate manner over the medium and long term, while accumulating sufficient equity to cover unexpected risks and other contingencies.

Our basic policy concerning the allocation of profits is to continue to pay stable dividends while considering the balance between the internal reserves necessary for sustained growth and shareholder returns. With regard to internal reserves, we believe that shareholders' joint interests are best served by giving priority to strategic business investments that will generate sustained profit growth and capital efficiency.

Principle 1.4

Cross-Shareholdings

(Policy and approach on reduction of cross-shareholdings)

We may establish strategic stakes in important stakeholders such as business partners or companies with which we have entered into operational alliances in keeping with a basic approach of achieving sustained growth and increasing corporate value over the medium and long term while pursuing mutually beneficial relationships with stakeholders.

Examples include situations where we stand to gain stable and sustained cash flow by maintaining a good relationship over the medium and long term because a partner can offer a large number of favorable vending machine locations, or where an operational alliance would contribute to efforts to increase corporate value over the medium and long term. We clearly identify the purpose of each new stake and then regularly verify its status following acquisition, and if it is determined that stable and ongoing cash flows and improved corporate value in the medium and long term cannot be expected, reductions are performed via sale of shares or some other, appropriate method.

(Content of assessment of whether or not to hold each individual cross-shareholding)

The Company assesses the suitability of cross-shareholding on a regular basis once each year.

The results of the most recent assessment, which was conducted at the February 16, 2026, meeting of the Board of Directors with regard to conditions as of January 20, 2026, confirmed that contributions to the help of corporate value in the medium- to long- term can be expected, and the policy to continue holding was decided. We will continue to regularly assess whether contributions to the help of corporate value in the medium- to long -term can be expected, and determine the appropriateness of holding accordingly.

As of January 20, 2026, the balance for equity investments obtained for the purpose of holding, excluding net investments, was 5,720 million yen (3,893 million yen on January 20, 2025), with the primary cause being changes in market prices. Also, as of January 20, 2026, the number of listed companies for which equity investments have been obtained for the purpose of holding, excluding net investments, was 22 (23 on January 20, 2025), which is a decrease of one company compared with the previous year. This is due to the sale of some shares after verification at a meeting of the Board of Directors on February 14, 2025.

(Standard on exercising voting rights deriving from cross-shareholdings)

Voting rights deriving from cross-shareholdings are exercised on a case-by-case basis following an investigation of whether this decision will damage our corporate value.

Principle 1.7

Related Party Transactions

To prevent directors, auditors, corporate officers, and other company officials and major shareholders from abusing their positions by engaging in transactions that harm the interests of the Company or its shareholders, competition and conflict of interest transactions with officers and corporations that are substantially controlled by officers must be deliberated and decided by the Board of Directors. In addition, affected officers may not participate in those deliberations and decisions.

Investigations to identify any transactions with directors, corporate auditors, or their close relatives are documented, and any results including material information, are reported to the Board of Directors. Furthermore, the Company discloses transactions between related parties in accordance with the Companies Act, the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act, and rules imposed by the Tokyo Stock Exchange.

Supplementary Principle 2.4.1

Approach to Securing Diversity within the Company and Status of Related Initiatives

We have set a comprehensive framework for human capital management to achieve effective human capital management that aligns with our business strategy.

Currently, with the "Group Mission 2030," we are promoting business transformation as well as expanding into new areas, while staying flexible to societal changes. To make this happen, we believe it's essential to building an organization made up of diverse talents and that supporting the proactive growth and engagement of each individual.

In the DyDo Group, we value five core qualities in our people: "Ambition" at the center, along with "Spirit of Taking on Challenges," "Growth Mindset," "Achievement Motivation," and "Self-Reliance." To support the growth and engagement of individuals who possess these five qualities, we have introduced a system called "DyDo Career Create" that encourages proactive career development. In addition, we emphasize organizational development that respects diverse values, promotes psychological safety, and provides an environment that enables everyone to perform at their best.

We also strive to create a workplace where work-life synergy is realized, meaning that employees can work healthily and productively both mentally and physically.

(Approach to securing diversity through appointing core personnel, etc.)

We have created a succession plan aimed at the management teams and key department heads of the holding company and the Group companies, implementing a systematic approach to talent development. Additionally, for core Domestic Beverage Business, we have initiated the "DyDo Innovation Academy," a long-term training program aimed at cultivating and selecting the next generation of executives, targeting mid-level employees.

When appointing and developing key personnel, we base our decisions on performance and ability, regardless of gender, age, or nationality.

(Personnel training policy and policy to put in place an in-house environment aimed at securing diversity, and their respective implementation statuses)

We are advancing "DE&I (Diversity, Equity & Inclusion*)" aimed at organizational development that emphasizes psychological safety, where diverse values are respected, and everyone can freely express their opinions and demonstrate their abilities. Additionally, we are establishing a "work environment and corporate culture" that enables work-life synergy.

In promoting DE&I, we are advancing initiatives centered on the Diversity Promotion Group established within the holding company in January 2023. This group identifies DE&I-related issues across the Group companies and promotes the development of an organization in which diverse talent can thrive by expanding necessary systems, improving business processes, and enhancing operational efficiency through the use of technology. In fiscal 2025, we strengthened DE&I training for managers and introduced an AI tool to identify unconscious bias, creating opportunities for new awareness and self-reflection on individual attitudes and behaviors.

At DyDo DRINCO, INC., a major subsidiary, the company obtained the highest rating (three stars) of the "Eruboshi" certification in fiscal 2025. Going forward, we will continue to expand systems that support diverse workstyles so that employees can perform at their best both at work and in their private lives at each stage of life, thereby promoting work-life synergy and further advancing diversity initiatives.

In addition, at DyDo DRINCO, INC., the company is increasing the ratio of women in sales roles responsible for developing new vending machine locations, a field that was traditionally male-dominated. Through this initiative, we aim not only to promote the active participation of women within the company but also to create added value by offering vending machines that incorporate women's perspectives, thereby contributing to the creation of a society and work environment in which women can thrive. Furthermore, in response to the increasing number of women in sales roles, we are enhancing our training programs by promoting networking among female employees and holding exchange meetings aimed at improving sales skills.

To develop a work environment and corporate culture that enable work-life synergy, we are promoting health management and flexible workstyles that support employees' autonomous work practices.

Regarding health management, we formulated the DyDo Group Health Declaration in 2019 and have been working to create an environment in which employees can enhance their awareness of health and actively engage in maintaining and improving their well-being.

As a result of these initiatives, DyDo DRINCO, INC., a major subsidiary, has been certified as a Certified Health and Productivity Management Outstanding Organization 2026 (large enterprise category) under the Health and Productivity Management Organization Recognition Program promoted by the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry.

To promote flexible workstyles, DyDo DRINCO, INC. has introduced a super flex system with no core hours and a work system where employees can choose between coming to the office or working from home (with one day in the office per week).

* A concept that values diversity, provides equitable opportunities tailored to individual circumstances and creates an environment where everyone can fully utilize their abilities.

(Voluntary and measurable targets and their status)

(1) Promotion of women to management positions

At our group's main subsidiaries*, the percentage of women in managerial positions is 14.4% as of January 2026. We aim to increase this figure to 20% by 2030.

As approximately 60% of DyDo DRINCO's employees are in sales, the company believes that promoting the activities of women, particularly in sales, will lead to an increase in the proportion of women in management positions. For this reason, a Diversity Promotion Group has been newly established under the Sales Division and is working to raise employee awareness and improve the workplace environment.

*DyDo DRINCO, INC., DAIDO Pharmaceutical Corporation, Tarami Corporation, and DyDo Pharma, Inc. are considered our main subsidiaries, and the percentage is calculated by combining these four companies.

*The percentage of women in managerial positions includes all employment types.

(2) Promoting mid-career hires to management positions

Since the 2010s, the Group has continuously recruited mid-career personnel with expertise in new fields who can make an immediate contribution to the transformation of its business portfolio. As a result, at DyDo DRINCO, the Group's core company, the proportion of mid-career hires in management positions is 25.5% (FY2025/ Mid-career hires are counted as those hired after FY 2010, when we started mid-career recruiting in earnest). The policy is to continue to actively recruit the necessary personnel in mid-career in line with the management plan and to promote them to management positions based on their achievements and abilities, regardless of whether they are new graduates or mid-career hires, and no quantitative targets have been set at present.

(3) Promotion of foreign nationals to management positions

"For DyDo Group to create enjoyable, healthy lifestyles for people around the world", the Group is developing its International Beverage Business. In overseas subsidiaries, the majority of management positions are held by local employees who are non-Japanese nationals. In recruitment and promotion to management positions in Japan, no distinction is made on the basis of nationality, but rather on performance and ability, with no quantitative targets set at the present time.

Principle 2.6

Content of human resources and operational practices implemented to ensure expected functioning of corporate pension funds as asset owners

Because the management of corporate pension funds impacts stable asset formation for employees and our own financial standing, we ensure that potential conflicts of interest between pension fund beneficiaries and our company are appropriately managed by entrusting fund operation to a management institution and by receiving regular reports on the status of fund management and stewardship activities.

However, with regard to the involvement of human resources and operational practices, as required by this principle and including recruiting or assigning outside qualified persons, discussion of this issue will be revisited in the future as warranted based on careful monitoring of developments.

Principle 3.1

Full Disclosure

(1) Company objectives (e.g., business principles), business strategies and business plans

The Group established the DyDo Group Philosophy "Creating happiness and prosperity, together with people and with society. To achieve this goal, the DyDo Group will continue to embrace new challenges in a dynamic way." and DyDo Brand Message "Offering delicious products for sound mind and body" in 2014 in a concerted effort to facilitate sustained future growth in the face of substantial changes in the environment in which its Domestic Beverage Business operates.

In January 2019, the Group adopted Group Mission 2030, which summarizes its vision for 2030 as "for DyDo Group to create enjoyable, healthy lifestyles for people around the world." We see our mission as contributing to the realization of the future envisioned by the SDGs through our businesses, which will facilitate a sustainable society that will in turn make possible our sustained growth. The spirit of striving to achieve happiness and prosperity together dovetails perfectly with the SDG principle of "leaving no one behind." As we look towards 2030, we will strive to contribute to the realization of a sustainable society in which the people of the world can live happy, healthy lives, and to achieve the Group's sustained growth and improve its corporate value over the medium and long term by creating social, environmental, and economic value.

The Group Mission 2030 describes the Group's philosophy and vision, sets forth four themes that define the mission it believes it should achieve by 2030, and offers a roadmap for its achievement. Specifically, it divides the years leading up to 2030 into three phases (a platform-strengthening and investment stage, a growth stage, and an achievement stage) by means of which we will develop a business portfolio with high growth potential, profitability, and efficiency and build highly competitive business models by pursuing business strategies that correspond to each stage.

We are currently executing the five-year Mid-Term Business Plan 2026, with FY 2022 as the first year, as our "Growth Stage". In order to make a leap forward in the future, we are working on renewing growth in the Domestic Beverage Business as our most important task, as well as reformulating our international Beverage Business strategies, and strengthening and developing non-beverage segments.

(2) Basic Approach and Policy Regarding Corporate Governance

"DyDo Group strives to achieve happiness and prosperity together with people and society as a whole. To realize this, we will continue our dynamic efforts to take on new challenges." Our corporate philosophy inspires us in our ongoing quest to ensure proper, upstanding business practices and rigid compliance with relevant laws and regulations. It motivates us to constantly improve management efficiency and transparency, and to promote the group's mutual benefits with all of our stakeholders, including our customers, our employees, our business partners, our communities, and our shareholders. It is the very cornerstone of our corporate governance, which is geared toward generating sustainable growth and improving corporate value over the medium- to long-term.

The core business of the DyDo Group is Domestic Beverage Business, and considering the fact that approximately 90% of our sales for this segment come from vending machines in the local community, it is fair to say that our soft drink products are a familiar part of consumers' everyday lives. Moreover, our operations are conducted under a "fabless management" system, which means we have no plants of our own and instead work in close cooperation with producers and distributors nationwide, to whom we outsource the manufacture and delivery of our products. We concentrate our resources on more specific roles, such as product planning and development, and vending machine operations. We have one of the most extensive networks of vending machines in Japan, maintained by DyDo Group employees and the "Kyoeikai" (collective term for partner companies operating DyDo vending machines).

As such, we believe "happiness and prosperity together with people and society as a whole" is more than just a nice phrase for a corporate philosophy—it is our duty, and the overriding objective of our business activities. To that end, our "dynamic efforts" are founded on bedrock of corporate governance, a steadfast platform of transparent, fair, swift, and bold decision-making. Moreover, we continually work to improve that foundation in order to contribute to the benefit of our shareholders.

The President and Representative Director, Tomiya Takamatsu is a member of the family that founded the Company and a major shareholder who holds shares of the Company directly and through asset management companies under his direct control. (See "2. Capital structure" for more information concerning major shareholders) He directs the Company's management through swift and bold decision-making, and a management stance characterized by a medium- and long-term perspective that is based on stakeholders' positions. In keeping with our recognition that ensuring transparency and fairness in the decision-making process is imperative in order to implement effective corporate governance at the Company, we have chosen to structure the Company as a company with a Kansayaku Board. In this organizational structure, auditors have investigative authority under applicable laws and regulations to audit directors' performance of their obligations and responsibilities. By filling three of the four seats on the Kansayaku Board with independent outside corporate auditors, we have sought to strengthen the ability of auditors to oversee the Company's management from an independent perspective. Furthermore, we have elected independent outside directors to the Board of Directors since April 2014 in order to incorporate outside perspectives into our management and enhance the Board's ability to supervise the Company's operations.

We are making progress on appointing outside directors with diverse backgrounds in line with the development of management strategy and changes in society, while also working to increase the accountability of top executives and transparency.

As of April 16, 2026, four of the seven seats on our Board of Directors are occupied by independent outside directors, with the result that independent outside directors account for 57.1% of the Board of Directors.

- (3) The 16th Annual General Meeting of Shareholders imposed a limit of 280 million yen per year on director compensation (not including the portion of compensation paid as employee salary) on April 18, 1991, while the 32nd General Meeting of Shareholders imposed a limit of 40 million yen per year on auditor compensation on April 18, 2007.

Furthermore, at the 41st General Meeting of Shareholders on April 15, 2016, it was determined that a new trustee performance-based stock compensation system for relevant directors, separate to the compensation detailed above, and set a total upper limit of 550 million yen.

The decision-making policy for director compensation and related matters was determined by the Board of Directors on March 4, 2022. For more details, please see the section on policies on amount of compensation or the method used to calculate compensation

The retirement benefit program for officers was abolished for directors and auditors at the 39th Annual General Meeting of Shareholders, which convened on April 16, 2014. Directors and auditors who continued to serve following the conclusion of that meeting are eligible to receive the retirement benefits they earned during their service before the program was abolished, with the specific amount, timing, method of presentation, and other terms to be determined by the Board of Directors (for directors) or Kansayaku Board (for auditors).

- (4) Board policies and procedures in the appointment of the senior management and the nomination of directors and kansayaku candidates;

Our policies require the election of individuals who possess extensive knowledge of the Company's operations and who excel in character, knowledge, and energy as candidates for internal director positions, and of individuals who possess specialized knowledge and extensive experience along with the ability to contribute to the enhancement of our corporate governance, for example by offering advice as appropriate concerning decision-making by the Board of Directors from an independent perspective or by providing highly effective supervision of the Company's executive team, as candidates for outside director positions. Similarly, our policies require the election of individuals who possess extensive expertise and experience as specialists in areas such as finance, accounting, or law and who can carry out audits from a highly independent and broad perspective as candidates for external auditor positions.

The key consideration in nominations of individuals to fill top executive positions is the ability to exercise strong leadership and direction over the Company's management through prompt and decisive decision-making, a management stance characterized by a medium- and long-term perspective, and consideration of stakeholders' positions.

(5) Policies and Procedures with respect to the dismissal of corporate executives

In order to increase accountability of corporate executives and, thereby, further promote transparency, four of the seven members of the Board of Directors are independent outside directors.

In the unlikely event that a situation arises which is deemed objectively worthy of dismissal, such as legal or corporate by-law violations by corporate executive which significantly harm the value of the company, a decision will be made after thorough discussion by the Board of Directors with independent, outside directors in attendance.

(6) Explanation of individual nominations and appointments based on (4)

Details of the reasons for the selection of each candidate are detailed on the notice of convocation. Details for directors to be appointed on April 15, 2026, are as follows.

Based on this proven track record, she is considered to be qualified for service on the Board of Directors.

* We have submitted filings to the Tokyo Stock Exchange designating Ms. Ito as an independent outside director.

Supplementary Principle 3.1.3
Sustainability Initiatives

(Disclosure of the Sustainability Initiatives That Form Part of Our Management Strategies)

The Group formulated the Group Mission 2030—"For DyDo Group to create enjoyable, healthy lifestyles for people around the world."—to explain where, and what, it wants to be by incorporating issues previously identified and analyzing changes to domestic population trends and other medium- and long-term changes in the business environment as either risks or business opportunities that will exert a serious impact on its business model.

We see our mission as contributing to the realization of the future envisioned by the SDGs through our businesses, which will facilitate a sustainable society that will in turn make possible our sustained growth. The spirit of striving to achieve happiness and prosperity together dovetails perfectly with the SDG principle of "leaving no one behind." As we look toward 2030, we will strive to contribute to the realization of a sustainable society in which the people of the world can live happy, healthy lives; to achieve the Group's sustained growth; and to improve its corporate value over the medium and long term.

(Investments, etc., in human capital and intellectual properties)

To achieve our Group Mission 2030, it is important to promote business innovation and the acquisition of new business, while responding flexibly to changes in society. To this end, we believe it is essential to build an organization with human capital possessing diverse values and capabilities, and to promote the independent growth and activities of each of our employees.

The qualities we look for in human capital are "Ambition", "Spirit of Challenge", "Willingness to Grow", "Achievement", and "Self-Discipline". To support the growth and success of human capital possessing these five qualities, we provide a system, DyDo Career Create, that supports the career development of each on own initiative. At the same time, we strive to create an environment with a focus on psychological safety, where diverse values are respected, and everyone can fulfill their potential. In addition, we provide an environment where work-life synergy (both improved productivity and well-being) can be achieved.

Through the above, we will develop self-directed professionals, combines the five qualities and continues to achieve high performance. While enhancing engagement with human capital in accordance with this policy, we will improve our ability to respond to change and create value both domestically and internationally, thereby achieving sustainable growth in our businesses. The indicators and targets in human capital management" and "policies and specific examples for achieving human capital management" are described in the Annual Securities Report(Japanese only).

In the Domestic Beverage Business, the Group's core business, we must also lead the industry in workstyles at vending machine operations sites to establish a solid advantage in the vending machine market. To this end, we are steadily working to develop our smart operation structure by utilizing cutting-edge technologies. By fusing our strengths in vending machine operational expertise with digital technologies, we are working to create value, while at the same time, we will aim to achieve sustainable growth in the vending machine business by diversifying workstyles in response to a declining working population in the future.

(Enhancing disclosure quality and quantity based on the TCFD's recommendations and other high-level frameworks)

In recent years, changes in the way stakeholders evaluate corporate attitudes toward environmental issues such as climate change, and new values in the market, have a major impact on how consumers choose products and services. To curtail the likelihood of climate change, systems of laws and regulations—such as those that aim at rationalizing energy usage on a global scale and measures to combat global warming—are being strengthened. Climate-change-related physical risks that affect the supply chain, including the loss of clean water resources, its impact on coffee and other raw materials, and damage to manufacturing facilities from large-scale natural disasters, are growing. Therefore, we recognize that responding to climate change, and the major issue it presents global society, is an important factor for our management in achieving sustainable growth for the Group.

We have put contributing to a decarbonized, recycling-oriented society as one of the Group's material issues, and in January 2022 we declared our support for the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD). We have also set ourselves groupwide CO₂ emissions reduction targets. The TCFD's recommendations suggest disclosing information in four categories: governance, risk management, strategy, and metrics and targets.

Based on our TCFD framework, we detail the following climate-related information.

Supplementary Principle 4.1.1

Scope of authority delegated to the executive team by the Board of Directors

Our Board of Directors is the body with decision-making authority over important matters related to the Company's operations and responsibility for supervising those operations. The specific matters over which it has decision-making authority and the reporting requirements to which it is subject are set forth in our Board of Directors Rules.

The Management Meeting, whose membership consists of full-time directors and corporate officers, serves as an advisory body for the president by proposing policies and plans related to the overall management of the Company and by investigating, researching, planning, managing, communicating, and coordinating the same.

As part of our transition to a holding company structure in January 2017, we transferred authority for certain operations to group companies in order to accelerate decision-making and stimulate robust deliberation about group strategy, business plans, and other topics by the Board of Directors.

We set forth a series of new, specific standards by revising applicable provisions of the Board of Directors Rules, Management Meeting Rules, Management Authority Rules, and other documents.

Principle 4.8

Effective Use of Independent Directors

We have elected two independent outside directors to the Board of Directors since April 2014 in order to incorporate outside perspectives into our management and enhance the Board's ability to supervise the Company's operations. In this way, we're working to increase the accountability of top executives and to increase transparency. We are also making progress on appointing outside directors with diverse backgrounds in line with the development of management strategy and changes in society.

As of April 16, 2026, four of the seven seats on our Board of Directors are occupied by independent outside directors, with the result that independent outside directors account for 57.1% of the Board of Directors.

Principle 4.9

Independence Standards and Qualification for Independent Directors

The Company has established the following standards to govern the independence of its Outside Directors/Corporate Auditors.

1. Candidates may not be an individual with responsibility over operations (*1) of the DyDo Group;
2. Candidates may not have the DyDo Group as a major business partner (*2) or be an individual with responsibility over operations of a company that has the DyDo Group as a major business partner;
3. Candidates may not be a major business partner of the DyDo Group, or an individual with responsibility over operations of a major business partner of the DyDo Group;
4. Candidates may not be a consultant, accounting specialist, or legal specialist who receives a large amount of money (*3) or other assets apart from officer compensation from the DyDo Group;
5. Candidates may not be a trustee or an individual with responsibility over operations of an organization that receives donations or subsidies in excess of a certain amount (*4) from the DyDo Group;
6. Candidates may not be a major shareholder of the Company (*5) or an individual with responsibility over operations of a major shareholder of the Company;
7. Candidates may not be an individual with responsibility over operations of a certain other company if an Executive Director or full-time Corporate Auditor of the Company is concurrently serving as an outside director or outside corporate auditor of that company;
8. Candidates must not have fallen under the statuses described in 1 through 7 above at any time during the last three years, and;
9. Candidates must not be a close relative (*6) of an individual who falls under any of the statuses described in 1 through 8 above (however, this applies only to an individual deemed an important employee (*7) with respect to an employee described in 1 above).

*1 In this context, an individual with responsibility over operations refers to an Executive Director or executive officer of the Company, or another company's company officer with responsibility over that company's business operations, or individuals or employees with the same responsibilities.

*2 In this context, a major business partner refers to a business partner whose payments or receipts with respect to transactions with the DyDo Group have exceeded 2% of its total annual consolidated net sales during the most recent fiscal year.

*3 In this context, a large amount of money refers to an amount, when averaged over the last three years, that is ¥10 million or more per year (for individuals), or, over 2% of an organization's consolidated net sales when averaged over the last three fiscal years (for organizations).

*4 In this context, a certain amount refers to an amount, when averaged over the last three fiscal years, that is either ¥10 million per year or 30% of the average annual total expenses of the organization, whichever is larger.

*5 In this context, a major shareholder of the Company refers to a shareholder who directly or indirectly holds 10% or more of voting rights of the Company.

*6 In this context, a close relative refers to a spouse, a relative within the second degree of kinship, or a relative residing in the same household.

*7 In this context, an important employee refers to an employee of the rank of General Manager or above.

Principle 4.10

Use of Optional Approach

On March 15, 2019, the Board of Directors approved the formation of an Advisory Board consisting of roughly three outside experts not currently serving as outside directors or corporate auditors as a voluntary mechanism to further enhance its corporate governance.

The Advisory Board, as a consultative body to the President, aims to further enhance the transparency of the Company's management by incorporating external perspectives into the execution of strategy, such as offering proposals on management issues faced by the Group.

Supplementary Principle 4.10.1

Nominating and Compensation Committee

Meeting on August 30, 2021, the Board adopted a resolution to establish a Nominating and Compensation Committee.

Role and authority of the Committee

The Committee will play its role as a voluntarily established advisory body to the Board by exercising its authority to discuss the matters listed below and report its findings to the Board in response to consultation requests.

The Board will respect the findings of the Committee to the greatest extent possible.

- (1) Matters related to the appointment and dismissal of directors
- (2) Matters related to the selection and dismissal of the representative director
- (3) Matters related to the selection and dismissal of executive directors
- (4) Matters related to upper limits on compensation and other remuneration awarded to directors
- (5) Matters related to policies for determining compensation and other compensation awarded to individual directors
- (6) Matters related to compensation and other compensation awarded to individual directors
- (7) Matters related to succession planning (including training)
- (8) Matters related to policies for nominating directors
- (9) Matters related to policies for nominating representative directors of important subsidiaries
- (10) Other matters as deemed necessary by the Board of Directors

Approach to independence in the composition of the Committee

The Committee will consist of at least three directors as selected by resolution of the Board, and a majority of its members must be independent outside directors.

To ensure the transparency and objectivity of discussions and bolster the Committee's independence, a member who is an independent outside director will be selected to serve as its chairperson.

Supplementary Principle 4.11.1

Approach to the overall balance of knowledge, experience, and skill as well as the diversity and size of the Board of Directors

Our Articles of Incorporation require seven or fewer directors and four or fewer auditors.

In line with our corporate philosophy—"Creating happiness and prosperity, together with people and with society. To achieve this goal, the DyDo Group will continue to embrace new challenges in a dynamic way."—we have set ourselves Group Mission 2030—"For DyDo Group to create enjoyable, healthy lifestyles for people around the world."—to explain where, and what, we want to be by the year 2030.

As such, the Board of Directors' role is to set the direction for implementation of the DyDo Group's corporate strategy; establish a platform for executives to take calculated risks; and institute effective, independent, and objective oversight of executives and directors. To enable it to fulfill this role, we have set the composition of the Board of Directors as detailed below, and the Nominating and Compensation Committee also discusses the Board of Directors' composition.

- We have determined that a seven or fewer members is a necessary and appropriate size for the Board of Directors, and we ensure a range of perspectives (gender, age, career backgrounds, etc.). We also take into consideration the skills that the Board of Directors requires that are specified separately. Accordingly, the Board of Directors comprises directors who possess extensive knowledge of our operations and who excel in terms of character, knowledge, and energy; and outside directors who possess specialized knowledge and extensive experience along with the ability to contribute to the enhancement of our corporate governance, for example by offering advice as appropriate concerning decision-making by the Board of Directors from an independent perspective or by providing highly effective supervision of our executive team.

- Half or more of the members of the Board of Directors are independent outside directors who have the ability to contribute to sustained growth and increased corporate value over the medium and long term from the perspectives of strengthening oversight functions and the transparency of management.

In order for the Board of Directors to appropriately undertake its roles and responsibilities, we have considered the overall mix of skills that the Board of Directors requires, and—with reference to the DyDo Group Corporate Philosophy, Group Mission 2030, mid-term business plans, and other materials—have particular expectations for directors to demonstrate capabilities and skills that make use of knowledge and experience in the fields detailed below.

Fields in which we expect directors to be able to demonstrate their skills in particular

- Overall management, based on our group philosophy of “striving to achieve happiness and prosperity together with people and society as a whole”
- Marketing/sales (operations), important for our core Domestic Beverage Business
- Global skills, necessary for us to expand our business globally
- Healthcare, necessary in our new business domain, the Orphan Drug Business
- M&A and strategic investment, part of plans to formulate and implement strategies aimed at further business development and growth
- Finance/accounting and legal affairs/compliance, which forms the basis for decision-making on management and business activities
- Sustainability (for the environment and society), necessary to contribute to a sustainable global environment and local society
- Personnel development and diversity, the foundations of corporate activities and management that is focused on human capital
- DX and innovation, imperative to provide society with new value

We have also produced a skills matrix, which brings together the knowledge, experience, and specialisms we expect of our directors in one place. This matrix is published as part of our notices of convocation of the General Meeting of Shareholders, alongside director selection proposals.

We also expect corporate auditors to refer to their roles and responsibilities to audit business execution by directors, and to demonstrate skills in the areas of finance/accounting and legal affairs/compliance, and we consider the overall mix of skills that the Board of Corporate Auditors requires.

We believe that the current structure of the Board of Directors, of which four out of seven members—more than half—are independent outside directors (two of whom are female), allows us to ensure an additional level of independence and objectivity. We select four corporate auditors, of whom three are outside corporate auditors (one of whom is female), and they supervise business execution by the directors from an independent perspective.

Supplementary Principle 4.11.2

Concurrent service by officers of other listed companies on the Company’s Board of Directors or Kansayaku Board

We disclose information about concurrent service by officers of other listed companies on the Company’s Board of Directors or Kansayaku Board on an annual basis in notices of convocation of the General Meeting of Shareholders, securities reports, and corporate governance reports.

As of April 16, 2026, two of the Company’s four outside directors concurrently serve as outside directors at listed companies, and one of them also concurrently serves as an outside director who is a member of the Audit and Supervisory Committee at a listed company. In addition, of the Company’s three outside corporate auditors, two concurrently serve as outside directors who are members of the Audit and Supervisory Committee at listed companies, and one of them also concurrently serves as an outside director at a listed company.

Supplementary Principle 4.11.3

Analysis and evaluation of the overall effectiveness of the Board of Directors and overview of the results of the same

We have evaluated the effectiveness of the Board of Directors since FY2016, and we adopted the following analysis/evaluation method in FY2025. We released an overview of those evaluation results on March 16, 2026.

1. Analysis/Evaluation Method

In order to analyze and evaluate the effectiveness of the Board of Directors, all directors and auditors carried out a self-evaluation survey and individual interviews between December 2025 and February 2026. After that, at a meeting of the Board of Directors, the directors analyzed the results of the self-evaluation and shared their awareness of current issues. They also held constructive discussions to plan future efforts for improving the Board's effectiveness and to realize a higher level of effectiveness for the Board of Directors.

2. Evaluation Items

The self-evaluation form used the following headings to facilitate a review of the nature of discussions held by the Board as well as how the body dealt with issues over the last year.

- (1) Agenda and operations of the Board of Directors
- (2) Medium- to long-term operations of the Board of Directors in light of the Group Mission 2030
- (3) Other issues (e.g., strengthening governance structures)

3. Overview of Analysis/Evaluation Results

Based on the analysis of the self-evaluation results of all our directors, the Board of Directors concluded that "overall, the Board of Directors is functioning appropriately, and its effectiveness is ensured."

[Challenges Identified in the Previous Fiscal Year for Further Enhancing the Functionality and Effectiveness of the Board of Directors]

- (1) Active discussions on the Group's medium- to long-term direction and business portfolio
- (2) In-depth discussions on measures to increase returns on invested capital, considering cost of capital
- (3) Identifying important issues and conducting planned discussions
- (4) Early provision of Board meeting materials

[Improvements in the Board of Directors Operations during FY2025 and Future Challenges]

In FY2025, to identify key agenda items and promote more planned discussions, we presented the annual schedule of major topics at the beginning of the year and enhanced the Board's review of investment proposals in line with the priority theme of "executing growth investments" under the Medium-Term Management Plan 2026. To improve returns on invested capital, we reported on the progress of initiatives using the ROIC tree at our core companies in Japan.

However, it was noted that discussions on the future direction of the business portfolio and on enhancing capital efficiency over the medium- to long-term need enhancement. Additionally, there is a need for more thorough deliberations on initiatives in the Domestic Beverage Business.

In addition, it was shared that future challenges to strengthen the functions of the Board of Directors and further enhance its effectiveness are as follows:

- (1) To identify priority agenda items and promote more planned discussions in formulating the next Medium-Term Management Plan
- (2) To conduct thorough deliberations on measures to turn around the Domestic Beverage Business

Supplementary Principle 4.14.2

Policies on the training of directors and auditors

We provide opportunities for directors and auditors, including outside directors and external auditors, to gain knowledge about the Company's businesses, financials, organization, and other characteristics and develop an understanding of the roles and responsibilities of directors and auditors when they assume their positions. We also offer top executives, defined as individuals serving in positions at the corporate officer level and above, opportunities to gain knowledge about corporate legal affairs, accounting, corporate governance, capital markets, and other topics and to keep their knowledge up to date.

Principle 5.1

Policy for Constructive Dialogue with Shareholders

(Policy on the development of systems and initiatives)

- (1) DyDo GROUP HOLDINGS strives to achieve sustained growth and increased corporate value over the medium and long term by promoting constructive dialog with stakeholders. By giving overall responsibility for dialog with stakeholders to the president and having the general manager of the Corporate Communications Department (Information Management Officer) pursue dialog with specific purposes, the Company strives to build trust with structures that bring stakeholder voices to bear on its management.
- (2) The Corporate Communication Department works closely with other involved departments to facilitate smooth dialog with shareholders and investors by holding meetings as necessary. In addition, the head of the department attends meetings of the Board of Directors, Management Meeting, Boards of Directors of important subsidiaries, and other groups in an effort to maintain a timely understanding of information about the Group's management. Furthermore, we hold multiple meetings that are attended by the president and corporate officers with relevant areas of authority, including quarterly financial briefings and briefings on important developments such as mergers and acquisitions, and we carefully study how to best offer easy-to-understand explanations to shareholders and investors.

- (3) Means by which we facilitate dialog apart from individual meetings include financial briefings conducted by the president for analysts and institutional investors following the end of the second quarter and the end of the fiscal year as well as small meetings that are attended by the president.

In addition, we also focus on engaging in dialogue with shareholders and investors, not only by our General Manager of Corporate Communication Department, but also by our Director, Corporate Officer, and General Manager of the Finance Department, and Director and Executive Officer of Corporate Strategy and Internal Control, in order to build smooth relationships with shareholders and investors.

IR activities for individual investors include online information sessions, as well as website content such as videos.

As a tool to communicate with all shareholders, we publish the DyDo Challenge newsletter (Japanese Only) twice a year, and collect feedback from shareholders through questionnaires. The results are reported to the management, and they are also uploaded to our website.

- (4) We strive to reflect feedback from shareholders and investors in the Company's management by regularly reporting views and concerns that emerge from dialog with shareholders and investors to the Board of Directors and by providing more detailed information to the president as feedback.

- (5) We strive to comply with fair disclosure practices by managing insider information during dialog with shareholders and investors in an appropriate manner that conforms with internal rules. Rules require that meetings with individual shareholders and investors be attended by more than one employee, and meeting minutes are shared with top management and division directors. In keeping with our Disclosure policy, we avoid individual meetings with shareholders and investors during quiet periods. In addition, the Audit Department regularly monitors implementation of the Disclosure Policy and structures designed to ensure the timely disclosure of information.

- (6) The status of dialogue with shareholders and investors is described in the following.

- On the Company's website: https://holdings.dydo.co.jp/ir/event/general_communication.html

Explanation of Actions

The Group calculates its cost of equity based on the CAPM (Capital Asset Pricing Model) and its own WACC (Weighted Average Cost of Capital) based on that cost of equity, which is regularly shared with management (calculated values are not disclosed).

In its Medium-Term Management Plan 2026, the Company has set a consolidated ROIC target of 4% and targets ROIC for each business segment (Domestic Beverage Business: 4%, International Beverage Business: 13%, Non-Beverage Business: 0%) for the year ending 20 January 2027, with ROIC > WACC.

The ROIC results for the fiscal year ended January 2026 are as follows: consolidated 3.1%, the Domestic Beverage Business (10.4%), the International Beverage Business 13.7%, and the Non-Beverage Business 4.7%. To achieve the goals for the fiscal year ending January 2027, we are promoting a business portfolio strategy using ROIC and manage progress in each business based on the ROIC tree.

[Incentives]

Status of implementation of measures related to incentives granted to directors	Introduction of a performance-based compensation program
---	--

Supplemental explanation for this item
--

As part of our transition to a holding company structure effective January 21, 2017, we introduced a performance-based incentive program that awards Company shares in proportion to the extent to which performance targets are achieved in an effort to contribute to the Group's sustained growth and increased corporate value over the medium and long term.

At the 47th Annual General Meeting of Shareholders on April 15, 2022, we put forward a proposal to continue the performance-based incentive program (the trusted performance-based stock compensation system) with a partial change, to be decided upon.

Corporate auditors (excluding external auditors)	1	15 million yen (basic compensation: 15 million yen)
Outside directors	4	24 million yen (basic compensation: 24 million yen)
External auditors	3	18 million yen (basic compensation: 18 million yen)

Policies on amount of compensation or the method used to calculate compensation	Yes

Information disclosed about policies on amount of compensation or the method used to calculate compensation

The 16th Annual General Meeting of Shareholders imposed a limit of 280 million yen per year on director compensation (not including the portion of compensation paid as employee salary) on April 18, 1991, while the 32nd General Meeting of Shareholders imposed a limit of 40 million yen per year on auditor compensation on April 18, 2007.

Decision-making policies for compensation for directors and other matters was decided at a Board of Directors meeting on March 4, 2022, and are as follows:

■ Policies on amount of compensation and the method used to calculate compensation

<1> Basic policy

Remuneration, etc. of the Company's Directors shall be designed based on the following basic policy.

- Should raise awareness of the need to contribute to the realization of sustainable growth and the enhancement of corporate value over the medium to long term.
- Consideration should be given to the balance between public standards and the business environment, management details, and employee bonuses.
- When determining the remuneration of individual Directors, the level of remuneration should be appropriate, taking into account the level of achievement, importance and expectations of medium- to long-term strategies, based on the responsibilities of each position.
- Should be competitive as an incentive to recruit talented professionals.
- Remuneration for Executive Directors shall consist of basic remuneration, performance-based bonuses that mainly reflect single-year performance, and stock-based remuneration as medium- to long-term incentives. Outside Directors, who are responsible for supervisory functions, shall be paid only basic remuneration in light of their duties.
- To be reviewed regularly.

<2> Composition and percentage breakdown, etc.

(1) Composition, timing of payment, and percentage of each remuneration amount

Type			Payment timing	Breakdown
Monetary compensation	Fixed	Basic compensation	Once a month	Approx. 60%
	Performance-based	Bonus	Once a year	Approx. 30%
Non-monetary compensation (Stock-based compensation)	Fixed	Restricted share-based compensation	Once a year	Approx. 10%
	Performance-based	Trust-type stock-based compensation	At the time of Directors' retirement

(2) Basic compensation

The amount shall be determined based on the position, responsibilities, and years of service, taking into consideration the level of other companies, the Company's business performance, and the level of employee salaries, and shall be paid as monthly remuneration at one-twelfth of the fixed amount.

(3) Bonuses

The amount determined by multiplying basic remuneration by a coefficient corresponding to the degree of achievement of business results in the previous fiscal year will be paid at a certain time each year. This calculation method will be applied to bonuses to be paid in the fiscal year beginning on January 21, 2022.

The performance indicators used for the calculation are as shown in the table below.

Normal fiscal year	1. Consolidated net sales 2. Consolidated operating profit
--------------------	---

In FY2026, the degree of achievement of the Mid-Term Business Plan shall be taken into account.

(4) Trust-type stock-based compensation

Points obtained by multiplying the basic points according to position by a coefficient calculated according to the level of achievement of business results are awarded at a certain time each year, and the Company shall provide all Directors, etc. of the Group with the number of the Company's shares corresponding to the points upon retirement from office.

The performance indicators used for the calculation are as shown in the table below.

Normal fiscal year	1. Consolidated net sales
	2. Consolidated operating profit

In FY2026, the degree of achievement of the Mid-Term Business Plan shall be taken into account.

(5) Restricted share-based compensation

The number of the Company's shares corresponding to position will be delivered at a certain time each year. In principle, the Transfer Restriction Period shall be until retirement from office for Directors, etc. (Executive Directors or Executive Officers, the same below).

<3> Determination process

Individual remuneration, etc. shall be determined by resolution of the Board of Directors within the scope of the resolution passed at the General Meeting of Shareholders. Decisions by the Board of Directors shall include performance indicators and their coefficients used in the calculation of performance-based remuneration and non-monetary compensation, as well as criteria by position. The determination of the amount of basic remuneration and bonuses for each Director shall be delegated to the President and Representative Director by resolution of the Board of Directors.

In making these decisions and revising this Policy, the Nominating and Compensation Committee, which consists of a majority of independent Outside Directors, shall report in advance, and the Board of Directors and the President and Representative Director shall respect said report.

[Support structures for outside directors (external auditors)]

- We have structures in place that allow staff members in the Corporate Strategy Department to assist outside directors, and staff members tasked with supporting auditors to assist outside corporate auditors. Enhancing the extent to which information is provided to outside directors and outside corporate auditors is an essential precondition for sound debate by the Board of Directors, and we're working to further enhance our capabilities in this regard based on the results of Board of Directors evaluations.

2. Information related to functions such as operations, audits and oversight, director and auditor nominations, and determination of compensation

(overview of current corporate governance structures)

The purposes and roles of the Company's governance structures are described below. A diagram illustrating the overall system can be found on the last page of this report.

Board of Directors

The Board of Directors holds a regular meeting once a month, and meets irregularly as necessary, to make decisions about matters required by Japanese law and the Company's Articles of Incorporation as well as about important matters related to the its operations. Four of the seven seats are occupied by outside directors (as of April 16, 2026), whose function is to increase accountability of the executive team and enhance transparency by offering advice concerning the Company's management and to provide oversight from an independent perspective.

The Board's membership is as follows:

Tomiya Takamatsu (chairperson: president), Naoki Tonokatsu (director and corporate officer), Naoyuki Nishiyama (director and corporate officer), Masataka Inoue (outside director), Michiaki Kurihara (outside director), Junko Kawano (outside director) and Mina Ito (outside director)

Kansayaku Board

The Kansayaku Board in principle meets once a month to hear reports on important matters concerning audits, deliberate related matters, and make associated decisions. Auditors are responsible for establishing effective governance structures to secure the robust, sustained growth of the Company while earning the trust of stakeholders throughout society by overseeing directors' execution of their responsibilities as part of an independent entity with a mandate from shareholders. To that end, they attend important company meetings, including Board of Directors meetings, accept and verify the accuracy of reports from directors, employees, accounting auditors, and others, and investigate the status of the Company's operations and financial standing while taking such steps as necessary in response, for example by expressing their views to directors and employees through advice and recommendations from an independent perspective and prohibiting problematic conduct by directors.

The Board's membership as is follows:

Naokazu Hasegawa (chairperson: full-time corporate auditor), Shigeyuki Moriuchi (external auditor), Kiyoshi Watanabe (external auditor) and Mayumi Ishihara (external auditor)

Nominating and Compensation Committee

The Nominating and Compensation Committee, which was established to strengthen the independence, objectivity, and accountability with which the Board carries out its functions by empowering it to involve, and obtain advice from, independent outside directors in an appropriate manner, particularly when considering important matters such as the nomination and remuneration, meets at least once a year.

Its chairperson and members are as follows:

Junko Kawano (chairperson: outside director), Masataka Inoue (member: independent outside director), Michiaki Kurihara (member: independent outside director), Mina Ito (member: outside director) and Tomiya Takamatsu (member: president and representative director)

Management Meeting

The Management Meeting, which serves as an advisory body for the president by proposing policies and plans related to the overall management of the Company and by investigating, researching, planning, managing, communicating, and coordinating the same, meets regularly to discuss and make decisions related to decision-making by the president and other fundamentally important management matters and to hear reports on important matters related to the Company's management.

The Meeting's membership is as follows:

Tomiya Takamatsu (chairperson: president), Naoki Tonokatsu (director and corporate officer), Naoyuki Nishiyama (director and corporate officer), Akikazu Hamanaka (corporate officer), Takanori Nakashima (corporate officer), Makoto Miyachi (corporate officer), Yoshihiro Kobayashi (corporate officer), Tadayuki Sawai (General Manager of Audit Department), Yota Kawamura (General Manager of Corporate Strategy Department), Kimihiro Kamano (General Manager of Corporate Communication Department)

Group Risk Committee

The Group Risk Committee, which is chaired by the president, consists of members appointed by its chairperson. It meets twice a year, and at other times as necessary, to consider and approve the Group's overall risk management policy, to consider and approve the results of companywide risk assessments, to adopt risk countermeasures and issue instructions for corrective action, and to inspect and improve the Company's overall approach to risk management.

Group Sustainability Committee

The Group Sustainability Committee, which is chaired by the president, consists of members appointed by its chairperson. It meets twice a year, and at other times as necessary, to increase the value of the Group's corporate brand by considering and approving the Group's overall sustainability management policy and important sustainability issues (materiality), by adopting the companywide sustainability program, and by issuing instructions for improvements.

Advisory Board

The Advisory Board, as a consultative body to the President, aims to further enhance the transparency of the Company's management by incorporating external perspectives into the execution of strategy, such as offering proposals on management issues faced by the Group.

3. Reasons for Selecting the Current Corporate Governance System

We consider transparency, fairness, and equitability in decision-making to be integral factors in ensuring the effectiveness of our corporate governance. To that end, we elected to adopt "company with auditors" status under Japanese corporate law, which essentially means that we appoint corporate auditors who have the authority to audit the directors' execution of their duties. Three of our four corporate auditors are independent of the Company (three of which are independent outside corporate auditors), which underscores our dedication to maintaining robust, objective oversight. Additionally, we appointed two independent directors in April 2014 in order to bring an outside perspective to the Company's management and further strengthen the Board's oversight of directors' execution of their responsibilities. Currently, four of the Board's seven positions are held by outside individuals, reflecting the Board's commitment to heightening the accountability of the Company's executive leadership and further improving transparency. We are also making progress on appointing outside directors with diverse backgrounds in line with the development of management strategy and changes in society.

In addition, we adopted an executive officer system in March 2012. By delegating the authority and responsibility for discrete parts of the organization to executive officers, not only are we able to keep abreast of changes in the market environment, but we can also maintain a clearer line to customer and stakeholder feedback, which can then be reflected in our business management.

A diagram illustrating our corporate governance system can be found on the final page of this report.

III. Status of implementation of measures related to shareholders and other interested parties

1. Status of initiatives to ensure the relevance and engagement of the General Meeting of Shareholders and facilitate the exercise of voting rights

	Supplemental explanation
Early mailing of notices of the convocation of the General Meeting of Shareholders	Notices of the convocation of the 51st Annual General Meeting of Shareholders (which convened on April 15, 2026) were mailed on March 25, 2026. In addition, notices of convocation are published on the Company's website as well as the websites of the Tokyo Stock Exchange and ICJ in advance of mailed notices. (March 18, 2026)
Scheduling of General Meeting of Shareholders sessions so as to avoid conflicts with other such meetings	Our fiscal year ends on January 20, so our scheduling of the General Meeting of Shareholders does not conflict with similar meetings at other companies.
Exercise of voting rights via electromagnetic methods	We introduced the ability for shareholders to exercise voting rights via the Internet, making it possible to vote using a computer, mobile phone, or smartphone.
Participation in electronic voting platforms and other initiatives to improve institutional investors' ability to exercise their voting rights	We began participating in the Electronic Voting Platform operated by ICJ, Inc., and investors can use that platform to cast their votes.
Translation of notices of convocation (summaries) into English	We began translating part of our notices of convocation (including the text of measures being considered by the body) into English, and we publish that translation on the Company's website as well as the websites of the Tokyo Stock Exchange and ICJ.

2. Status of IR activities

	Supplemental explanation	Explanation by president
Establishment and publication of a disclosure policy	We have established a Disclosure policy, and the policy is published on the Company's website.
Regular briefings for personal investors	We offer online briefings for individual investors. Each such briefing addresses a different theme, and archived videos of past briefings can be found on the "For Individual Investors" page of the Company's website (Japanese only).	No
Regular briefings for analysts and institutional investors	Our president holds briefings and small meetings for analysts and institutional investors at the end of the fiscal year and at the end of the second quarter. We also provide video, transcripts of briefings, and a summary of the Company's responses to investor questions on the Company's website soon after the briefings are held.	Yes

	Supplemental explanation	Explanation by president
Publication of IR materials on the website	We make a range of information for investors available on the Company's website, including financial bulletins, securities reports, and shareholder notices (in Japanese only) as well as financial results materials, monthly sales reports, notices of convocation of the General Meeting of Shareholders, notices of measures adopted by the General Meeting of Shareholders, integrated reports, and IR news releases (in both Japanese and English). English translations of financial results materials, monthly sales reports, and IR news releases are made available at the same time as the Japanese originals.
Establishment of an IR department (coordinator)	As part of the Corporate Communication Department, we have appointed an Investor Relations coordinator.
Other	We make available research reports on the Company, prepared and published by Shared Research Inc., in both Japanese and English to support a deeper understanding of our business. https://sharedresearch.jp/en/companies/2590 In addition, our website includes the "For Individual Investors" pages for individual investors (in Japanese only) as well as English-language pages to facilitate a deeper understanding of the Company.

3. Status of initiatives related to respect for the viewpoints of stakeholders

	Supplemental explanation
Internal and other rules concerning respect for the viewpoints of stakeholders	Our Group Corporate Philosophy ("Creating happiness and prosperity, together with people and with society. To achieve this goal, the DyDo Group will continue to embrace new challenges in a dynamic way.") carries on the spirit of striving to achieve happiness and prosperity together that the Group has cultivated since its founding. We have established a CSR Policy to give shape to that philosophy by setting forth our basic stance toward stakeholders. <CSR Policy> Based on our group philosophy of "striving to achieve happiness and prosperity together with people and society as a whole," we are incorporating the voices of our stakeholders into our management and contributing to the realization of an active and enriched society. For our customers "Always offering high quality with added surprise!" Delivering joy and wonder, as well as safety and reliability. For our employees "Offering a dynamic workplace and the fulfilling joy of achievement!" Ensuring effective communication within the Company and developing human resources ready to face challenges. For our business partners "Taking on the challenge of the next stage of growth together!" Sharing our management vision and strategies while deepening the bonds of trust with our business partners. For society "Emphasizing the importance of the bonds between people and society!" Contributing to the vitality of local society through our business operations and community activities. For our shareholders "For continued growth in corporate value!"

	Realizing stable returns through a sound governance system. In 2019, the Group adopted the Group Mission 2030, which summarizes its vision for 2030 as “For DyDo Group to create enjoyable, healthy lifestyles for people around the world.” We see our mission as contributing to the achievement of the future envisioned by the SDGs through our businesses, which will facilitate a sustainable society that will in turn make possible our sustained growth. The spirit of striving to achieve happiness and prosperity together dovetails perfectly with the SDG principle of “leaving no one behind.” We also announced the DyDo Group SDGs Declaration in January 2021 in an effort to redouble our pursuit of the SDGs. As we strive to advance these initiatives and spur innovation to prepare for the next generation, it will be critical for each and every employee to behave in a way that accords with shared values based on the Group Philosophy and Group Vision and to pursue partnerships with a variety of stakeholders. As we look towards 2030, we will strive to contribute to the realization of a sustainable society in which the people of the world can live happy, healthy lives and to achieve the Group’s sustained growth and improve its corporate value over the medium and long term by creating social, environmental, and economic value. <DyDo Group SDGs Declaration> We believe in “Creating happiness and prosperity, together with people and with society” as the Company’s philosophy. This Philosophy expresses the spirit of “striving to achieve happiness and prosperity together” that has been with us since our founding. This spirit is an accurate representation of our culture and applicable to SDGs principle “Leave no one behind”. We have established the Group Mission 2030 to clarify our objectives for the year 2030 in line with our business policy, “For DyDo Group to create enjoyable, healthy lifestyles for people around the world.” Our mission is to contribute to SDGs through our business activities We will contribute to SDGs and realize the sustainable society in which people all over the world have their enjoyable and healthy lives for 2030.
Implementation of environmental protection activities, CSR activities, etc.	In line with the DyDo Group Corporate Philosophy—“Creating happiness and prosperity, together with people and with society. To achieve this goal, the DyDo Group will continue to embrace new challenges in a dynamic way”—we have identified major issues (hereafter referred to as material issues) as we work toward Group Mission 2030 and the ideals for 2030 that it outlines. In terms of material issues that relate to the environment, we chose contributing to decarbonization and a recycling-oriented society, and to that decarbonization end we have set ourselves the following Group targets: - We will aim to make emissions (Scope 1 and 2) by the Domestic Beverage Business*1 carbon neutral by 2030 - We will aim to cut CO2 emissions (Scope 1 and 2) for major Japanese group subsidiaries*2 by half*3 compared to 2020 levels by 2030 - We will aim to make our vending machine business carbon neutral by 2050 (for both direct emissions and through generating the electricity the machines use*4) * 1 DyDo DRINCO, DyDo Beverage Service, and DyDo Business Service * 2 DyDo DRINCO, DyDo Beverage Service, and DyDo Business Service, DAIDO Pharmaceutical Corporation, TARAMI Corporation * 3 Calculated by dividing the total emissions for relevant group companies by total sales * 4 CO2 emissions produced by vending machines operated by DyDo Beverage Service (Scope 3) Note: DyDo Beverage Service, Inc. absorbed Asahi Beverage Sales Co., Ltd. on January 21, 2025, and changed its name to DyDo Asahi Vending, Inc. The Group recognizes that addressing environmental issues such as climate change and resource depletion in accordance with its philosophy of “creating happiness and prosperity, together with people and with society” is a top management priority, and we’re striving to ensure we can pass on a beautiful Earth and rich, dynamic society to the next generation by implementing the PDCA cycle for an integrated management system in which the environment is a central consideration. We consider effective use of limited resources to be an essential part of realizing a sustainable society, and our approach to environmental responsibility consists of working towards a recycling-based society. In our Domestic Beverage Business, we’re working to realize a society founded on resource recycling by establishing an empty container recycling rate of 100%, a sustainable plastic container usage rate of 60%, and an average vending machine service life of 15 years as quantitative targets to be achieved by 2030. We will continue to strive to build a recycling-based society by working with employees and other stakeholders to ensure resources are used effectively at every important point in the supply chain.

In addition, we have established the Community Support Fund with the goal of implementing an ongoing program of community service in order to help realize rich and fulfilling local communities through the Group’s development. We adopted an approach that appropriates surplus earnings in this manner so that the fund could go beyond temporary assistance to offer support over the medium and long term in a way that would not be affected by our business performance in any given fiscal year.

Furthermore, we support Japanese “MATSURI” Festivals as a way to forge connections with local residents and reinvigorate regional society through festivals. By joining hands with local residents and local governments, we will continue to help build vibrant communities. We provide information about specific CSR initiatives on behalf of all stakeholders, including our customers, employees, business partners, shareholders, and society as a whole to the general public via our website and other means.

Measures such as policies related to information disclosure to stakeholders

We have adopted the following Disclosure policies:

1. IR Action Policy and Goals

DyDo GROUP HOLDINGS strives to achieve happiness and prosperity together with people and society as a whole. Under this group philosophy, we actively undertake two-way communication with all our stakeholders, including our shareholders and investors. This increases understanding of our group and incorporates the voices of our stakeholders as feedback to our management, enabling us to gain a correct appreciation of our corporate value as we aim to be a trustworthy company.

2. Promoting Constructive Dialog

DyDo GROUP HOLDINGS strives to achieve sustained growth and increased corporate value over the medium and long term by promoting constructive dialog with stakeholders. By giving overall responsibility for dialog with stakeholders to the president and having the general manager of the Corporate Communications Department (Information Management Officer) pursue dialog with specific purposes, the Company strives to build trust with structures that bring stakeholder voices to bear on its management.

3. Information Disclosure Policy

DyDo GROUP HOLDINGS aims to provide information rapidly, on the basis of transparency, fairness, and continuity, to all our stakeholders, including our shareholders and investors. This information includes financial information about topics such as the Group's financial condition and management results as well as non-financial information about topics such as management strategies and issues, risks, and governance. In addition to information disclosure in accordance with the Companies Act, the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act and other laws, plus the Timely Disclosure Rules of the Tokyo Stock Exchange (TSE), we also strive to disclose information proactively and candidly as far as possible as we believe this will be effective for generating a deeper understanding of the DyDo Group.

In addition, we treat information that is subject to insider trading regulations and finalized information about the Group's financial performance prior to its release as important information, which we do not disclose on a selective basis to transaction parties*.

* As defined by Article 27 Paragraph 36 Item 1 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act, including financial instruments business operators as well as other entities that are likely to be involved in certain transactions, including the purchase and sale of securities.

4. Important Information and Means of Information Disclosure

DyDo GROUP HOLDINGS takes into consideration the precise candid communication of information by appropriate methods in accordance with the importance and urgency of such, for vital information under the Timely Disclosure Rules of the TSE plus also information not required under those rules but which could have a marked effect on the judgment of investors.

For vital information DyDo GROUP HOLDINGS believes should be disclosed, we first explain it to the TSE, and register it publicly under the TSE Timely Disclosure network (TDnet). Immediately after registering it on TDnet we also provide the same information to news organizations, and post the same documentation on our website without delay. In the event Information Management Officer determines that an officer of the Company or any employee whose responsibilities include communicating information to transaction parties has unintentionally divulged important information, Information Management Officer will immediately report the incident to the president and make public the information in question in accordance with a predetermined procedure. If it is determined that it would not be appropriate to disclose the divulged information, we will take action as appropriate, for example by foregoing its disclosure on condition that the party who received the information agree to maintain its confidentiality and not to buy or sell any shares of the Company's stock until such time as the information in question can be disclosed.

5. Improving the Fairness of Information Access

DyDo GROUP HOLDINGS works actively to disclose information through its website in order to ensure stakeholders enjoy fair access to information.

In addition to disclosing important information on the Company's website for at least one year, we strive to disclose information that we determine should be shared with private investors and information that we believe would be useful in making investment decisions in an easy-to-understand manner, for example by summarizing the information and presenting it during question-and-answer sessions at financial briefings.

6. Matters Concerning Performance Forecasts and Future Predictions

The plans, future projections and strategies for the DyDo Group stated in the materials we disclose, with the exception of past or current facts, are projections of our future performance, and are based on the judgment and postulations of our management team based on the information available at the present time. Accordingly, the actual performance may differ greatly from these due to unforeseen factors, the economic situation and other risks.

7. Quiet Period

To protect against leakage of important information such as finalized information about the Company's financial performance prior to its release and to ensure fairness, we have set a "Quiet Period" for the thirty days prior to the financial results announcement (including for quarterly results; same below), where we refrain from answering or commenting on any queries relating to the financial results. During the quiet period we also refrain from holding press conferences or having individual meetings with analysts or institutional investors. However, if an important fact that requires disclosure comes up during this quiet period, we will disclose such information as required based upon the Timely Disclosure Rules and suchlike.

8. Development and Enhancement of Internal Structures

DyDo GROUP HOLDINGS will operate its Disclosure Policy in a proper manner and will develop and enhance internal structures that facilitate cooperation among involved departments in order to increase the level of understanding that characterizes dialog with stakeholders. DyDo GROUP HOLDINGS also has internal regulations regarding rules on insider trading and ensures their thorough operation, putting an emphasis on the education of its officers and employees. In addition, the Audit Department regularly monitors implementation of the Disclosure Policy and structures designed to ensure the timely disclose of information.

IV. Internal control systems, etc.

1. Fundamental policies on internal control systems and status of their implementation

We have implemented the following internal control system in accordance with the Companies Act and the Companies Act Enforcement Ordinance.

1. Frameworks to ensure that directors and employees of the corporate group comprised of the Company and the subsidiaries of the Company (the “Group”) perform their duties in conformity with laws and regulations and the articles of incorporation

- (1) The Group shares as a management philosophy its Group Philosophy and Group Vision, and toward their realization adheres to ethical corporate behavior and principles, as exemplified in the DyDo Group Code of Conduct.
- (2) The Group establishes and maintains necessary frameworks for the maintenance and monitoring of internal control consistent with the scale and characteristics of the Group.
- (3) The Group establishes the DyDo Group Hotline which guarantees that Group employees and corporate officers as well as outsiders will be able to make reports on compliance matters directly and without exposure to retaliation.
- (4) The internal auditing department of the Company, in coordination with the Kansayaku Board, identifies non-conformities and proposes improvement measures based on audits of each department's status of compliance with laws and regulations, the articles of incorporation, and internal regulations. Additionally, the internal auditing department of the Company performs internal audits in accordance with necessity and promotes the expansion of frameworks for compliance with laws and regulations at subsidiaries.
- (5) The Group maintains no transactional relationships with anti-social elements that threaten public order and safety. The Group, in coordination with the relevant institutions, defends itself vigorously across the entire organization to prevent damages should fraudulent claims be brought against the Group.

2. Frameworks concerning the preservation and management of reports on the performance of directors' duties

Matters concerning reports on the performance of directors' duties are appropriately preserved and managed in accordance with internal regulations and shall be accessible for the perusal by directors and corporate auditors when necessary.

3. Regulations and other frameworks for managing the risk of damages to the Group

- (1) The Company practices risk assessment and analysis in accordance with the fundamental regulations for risk management, maintains and regularly convenes a risk management committee chaired by the representative director serving as president, and engages in proactive risk management. Moreover, the Company works in coordination with subsidiaries to unify and share information concerning the Group's risk management and crisis management.
- (2) For the case of unforeseeable events with potential to materially affect the business of the Company, the Company establishes and maintains frameworks for the convocation of a crisis management committee chaired by the representative director serving as president, and steps to be taken to minimize damages and other adverse effects.

4. Frameworks to ensure that directors, etc., of the Group perform their duties in an efficient manner

All companies of the Group aim through the following measures consistent with the scale and characteristics of each company to achieve the efficient performance of the duties of directors.

- (1) Division of duties and clarification of authorities
- (2) Deliberations and reporting on important management matters at board of directors' meetings convened at regular intervals or as the need arises
- (3) Establishment of a management committee comprised of board directors
- (4) Preparation, progress management, and improvement measure implementation for consolidated mid-term management plans and fiscal-year budgets

5. Matters concerning reports to the Company regarding the performance of the duties of directors, etc., of subsidiaries

The Company, in accordance with internal regulations, establishes and maintains a department charged with the coordination of and control over its subsidiaries and the reporting to subsidiaries on the status of execution of operations.

6. Matters concerning employees whose deployment is requested by corporate auditors to support their duties, matters concerning the independence of such employees from directors, and matters for ensuring the effectiveness of instructions issued by corporate auditors to such employees

- (1) Upon request of the corporate auditors to have employees deployed to support their duties, the Company deploys employees equipped with the capabilities and knowledge necessary to support corporate auditors and confers upon the corporate auditors the right of command over such employees.
- (2) Corporate auditors shall be able to obtain from the director responsible for human resources in advance reports on personnel transfers and personnel assessments with respect to the employees whose support the corporate auditors request, and shall be able, based on reasons to be stated, to request of the director responsible for human resources changes to such personnel transfers.
- (3) The director responsible for human resources shall for disciplinary measures, etc., against subject employees obtain the advance approval of the corporate auditors.

7. Frameworks for reports to corporate auditors and frameworks to prevent retaliation against persons who have reported to corporate auditors

- (1) Through attendance at the meetings of the board of directors and meetings of other important deliberative bodies such as the management committee, etc., of the Company, the standing corporate auditor shall receive timely reports on important information concerning the Group. Moreover, the risk management department and the legal affairs department shall at regular intervals report on their respective duties to the corporate auditors.
- (2) In addition to item (1) above, Group directors, corporate auditors, and employees, etc., shall promptly report to the corporate auditors any matters that affect or threaten to affect the Group in a significant way.
- (3) The internal auditing department shares the results of internal audits of the Group with the Kansayaku Board.
- (4) Persons who have reported a compliance issue to corporate auditors are protected against retaliation on grounds of such reporting. If a person who has reported a compliance issue is found to have been retaliated against, appropriate steps are promptly taken to remove the retaliatory measures.

8. Procedures for advances or reimbursement of costs that arise in connection with the performance of the duties of corporate auditors and matters concerning policies for the treatment of other costs and obligations that arise from the performance of such duties

Advances or reimbursements, etc., claimed by corporate auditors related to expenses that arise in the execution of their duties are settled promptly unless found unnecessary for the execution of the duties of the subject corporate auditor.

9. Other frameworks to ensure the effective execution of audits of corporate auditors

To ensure appropriate communication and effective audit execution, corporate auditors maintain close contact with the internal auditing department, the accounting auditor, and the corporate auditors of subsidiaries, and meet at regular intervals for exchanges of opinion with the representative director serving as president.

10. Frameworks to ensure the reliability of financial reporting

The Group maintains, operates, and assesses continuously its frameworks for the effective and appropriate internal control concerning financial reporting in accordance with the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act and other laws and regulations and works to ensure the reliability and appropriateness of financial reporting.

2. Basic approach to the elimination of antisocial forces and status of its implementation

Our basic approach to implementing internal control systems includes the following commitment: “We will avoid entering into any relationship, business-related or otherwise, with antisocial forces that threaten order or safety in civil society. In the event that an individual or group associated with antisocial forces makes illegal demands of the Company, we will work with the authorities to prevent any damage from those demands while marshalling all of the organization’s resources to face them with a resolute attitude.” The DyDo Group Code of Conduct, which sets forth a specific code of conduct concerning compliance, also includes a similarly explicit statement, and we strive continually to raise awareness of our position with regard to antisocial forces.

We adopted a “Basic Policy Regarding Who Should Oversee Decisions Regarding the Financial and Business Policies of the Company” at a Board of Directors meeting held on January 15, 2008. That meeting approved a resolution entitled “Measures to Respond to Large-Scale Acquisition of Our Company’s Stock (Takeover Defense Measures),” which was then approved by the Annual General Meeting of Shareholders held on April 16, 2008.

We have continued to study the nature of those measures following their introduction based on changes in social and economic conditions, various trends and discussions concerning takeover defense measures, core principles of Japan’s Corporate Governance Code, and other factors as part of our efforts to maintain and increase corporate value and the common benefit of shareholders. As a result, we concluded that it would be essential to continue to address the risk of large-scale purchases of company shares as part of our efforts to achieve sustained growth and to increase corporate value over the medium and long term while pursuing mutually beneficial relationships with all stakeholders, including customers, employees, business partners, local communities, and shareholders, in keeping with our Basic Approach to Corporate Governance. Reflecting this conclusion, the Board of Directors approved the continuation of this plan (“the Plan”) on March 4, 2026, and it was subsequently approved by the 51st Annual General Meeting of Shareholders.

For the Company, the decision whether to agree to a large-scale acquisition by a large-scale purchaser should ultimately be entrusted to the judgment of shareholders, and the Company will not necessarily unconditionally reject a bid to participate in the Company’s management if the acquisition would dramatically enhance the Company’s corporate value.

The purpose of the large-scale acquisition rules under the Plan is to ensure that shareholders are provided not only with the information necessary to determine whether to accept a large-scale acquisition, but also with the opinion of the Board of Directors, which is responsible for the management of the Company, thereby securing an opportunity for shareholders to consider alternative proposals.

While the pursuit of short-term profits by certain groups or entities could result in acquisition proposals, such moves may ultimately disadvantage other shareholders. When an acquisition proposal is made, the determination of whether to accept such proposal rests with the shareholders, and the Company believes that establishing large-scale acquisition rules will enable shareholders to make decisions based on sufficient and accurate information.

Accordingly, by continuing the Plan, the Company has determined that it is incumbent upon the Board of Directors to remain prepared for unforeseen circumstances—such as acquisition attempts that clearly harm the interests of general shareholders, including those by acquirers who fail to comply with the rules—so as to safeguard the common interests of shareholders.

2. Other matters related to corporate governance structures, etc.

Overview of structures designed to ensure timely disclosure of information.

Since our listing on the First Section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange in August 2001, we have endeavored to make employees aware of the importance of disclosing information about the Company and its operations in a timely manner, to promote the centralization and sharing of information, and to make such information available in a timely and accurate manner.

When the Company's departments or Group companies become aware of material information, they immediately report that information to the Corporate Communication Department, which has responsibility for information disclosure. The general manager of the department, who is broadly responsible for the management of information at the Company, then determines whether that information should be disclosed in a timely manner and, if so, obtains approval from the president and makes it available to stakeholders without delay once it has been reported to, and discussed by, the Board of Directors and Management Meeting. Urgent information that requires immediate disclosure can be made available to stakeholders immediately, without prior reporting to, or discussion by, the Board of Directors and Management Meeting, at the president's discretion.

In addition to offering his views on information disclosure to the Board of Directors and Management Meeting, the general manager of the Corporate Communication Department reports on information that should be disclosed, the process by which such disclosure is accomplished, and its results. He also attends important meetings at Group companies, for example subsidiaries' Boards of Directors, and works to maintain an understanding of material information. In addition to orchestrating the actual release of information, the Corporate Communication Department gathers information from inside and outside the Company and reports that information to the general manager of the Corporate Communication Department, along with their associated views.

Full-time auditors maintain an understanding of material information by attending meetings of the Board of Directors and Management Meeting as well as other important meetings and review structures related to information gathering and disclosure.
